That languid, lifeless feeling that comes with spring and early summer can be quickly changed to a feeling of buoyancy and energy by the judicious use of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. To tire the Restorative is a genuine tonic to tired, run-down nerves, and but a few doses is needed to satisfy the user that Dr. Shoop's Restorative is actually reaching that tired spot. The indoor life of winter nearly always leads to sluggish bowels, and to sluggish circulation in general. The customary lack of exercise and outdoor air ties up the liver, stagnates the kidneys, and oft-times weakens the heart's action. Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a few weeks and all will be changed. A few days test will tell you that you are using the right remedy. You will easily and surely note the change from day to day. Sold by all dealers.

OLIOVILLE

Wm. Brainard, of Pay, Floyd county, spent last week with home folks.

Farmers are preparing to plant a very large acreage of corn this season. The high price of the past few years will cause them to plant more than usual.

Mrs. Minnie Wright is and has been very sick for the past few days.

Mrs. Bertie Frasher, who was reported dangerously ill for some time was thought to be dying Saturday. She has consumption.

There will be an I. O. O. F. lodge or organized here. The charter is ready and the "goat" will be turned in Saturday night. Fallsburg lodge will do the necessary work to start the new lodge on its journey.

Augustus Casto and wife were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hall Sunday.

Bob Davis and wife of Jattie were here recently.

Weak women get prompt and lasting help by using Dr. Shoop's Night Cure. These soothing, healing, antiseptic suppositories, with full information how to proceed are interestingly told in my book "No. 4 for Women." The book and strictly confidential medical advice is entirely free. Simply write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., for my book No. 4. Sold by all dealers.

Many requests from catarrh sufferers who use atomizers have caused us to put up Liquid Cream Balm, a new and convenient form of Ely's Cream Balm, the only remedy for catarrh which can always be depended upon. In power to allay inflammation, to cleanse the clogged air-passages, to promote free natural breathing, the two forms of Cream Balm are alike. Liquid Cream Balm is sold by all druggists for 75 cents, in glass, including spraying tube. Mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

Home Circle Column.

A Column Dedicated To Tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle.

The best use we can make of our life is to live so that we shall be a benediction to every one we meet.

The happiest persons in the world are not those who have the most done for them, but those who do the most for others.

Life is hard for many people and we have no right to withhold any word or touch or act of love which will enlighten the load or cheer the heart of any fellow struggler.

Did you ever stand in the golden sunlight of a warm day with your eyes turned upon a sheet of fly paper? If so you may have noticed how when one fly adheres to the sticky surface, its companions, instead of profiting by the horrible warning, immediately buzz down and go to destruction in the same manner, and in a little time there are hundreds in the throes of death. They are fools to be sure, and so are men. Men see their associates caught in the nets of vice. There are examples and warnings all about human beings, but they treat them as lightly as do flies and step down to death just as insensibly.

THE CARPENTER'S SON.

Twenty centuries ago there appeared upon the earth a child of lowly birth. Not in a palace, not even in a home of ordinary appointments, but in a manger, this child first beheld the light of day. The child grew, developed, and gave promise of a wonderful career. For a season he passed out of sight, but by and by he appeared again to disclose to those about him concerning the "life which now is and that which is to come." Such was the power of this strange personality that we have authority for saying that "He came to him from every quarter." This was the carpenter's son. This was the Man of Galilee.

Across the darkness of the world there flashed the light of a personality whose beams still radiate with a pure and undeviating glow. Its beams are still as potent to send warmth into a human soul as in the days when the multitudes were hastening to him "from every quarter." So widespread is his influence that throughout the length and breadth of Christendom church spires are pointing heavenward in His name, school doors are opening in which people may enter and study the principles of the civilization which He came to establish. Families are being organized and homes built upon an ordinance which He founded. So widely has He come to be known as the fountain of the world's purest joy, that in the hour of sorrow and even death stricken hearts pause that they may hear Him whisper:

"Let not your heart be troubled, As I am with you always."

CHANGE.

The secret of happiness is constant change within the limitations of reason and common sense. A rut in the human soul is like a rut in the road, dangerous and upsetting. If we must remain at the same tasks year after year for nearly a whole life-time, then it should be our constant effort to get all the variety we can into our lives in other ways. The fact that farmer's wives go insane more than any other class of persons is attributed to the terrible monotony of their lives, which are one unceasing round of hard work. A machine bearing on a single point of metal, wears out that point speedily. It is precisely the same with our lives. One dull round of thought, doing the same tasks at the same hour of the year after year, will break down the finest, strongest brain.

So get out and have a vacation. At least give yourself a vacation of thought. Read new things; walk along new roads; look at new pictures and new buildings. Invite fresh new thought always to your soul; so shall you always be young. Be not so sure that your fondest theory is exactly the correct one. Standing still is decay and death. Hold the same plow handle, bend over the same desk forty years, with your thoughts chained down to them, and you become a humped, shouldered old hunk—blind, deaf, weak and disagreeable.

Keep up with the wagon. Change your old views and habits for new and better ones when you find them, and be always on the lookout for them.

TRIBUTE TO WOMEN.

Place her among the flowers, foster her as a tender plant, and you will thus make her a tender plant, and she becomes a thing of fancy, waywardness and folly. She is annoyed by a dewdrop, fretted by the touch of a butterfly's wing, ready to faint at the sound of a beetle or the rattling of a window sash at night and is even overpowered by the perfume of a rose bud. But let her calamity come, rouse her affections, enkindle the fires of her being and mark then how strong is her heart. Place her in the heat of battle, give her a child, a bird, or anything to protect, and see her lifting her white arms as a child, as her own blood crimson her upturned forehead, praying for her life to protect the helpless. Transplant her into the dark places of the earth, call forth her energies to action and her breath becomes a healing, her presence a blessing. She disputes inch by inch the stride of a stalking pedant, when man, the strong and brave, pale and affrighted, shrinks away. Misfortune hurts her not; she wears away her life in silent endurance and goes forth with less timidity, she is a bud full of odors waiting for the winds of adversity to scatter them abroad—gold, valuable, but untold in the furnace.
